

Anderson Lloyd take up residence in prestigious Britomart location

Our Auckland Office has moved into Britomart's prestigious Australis Nathan Building.

The new office is located in architecturally refurbished floor space above internationally renowned flagship stores Tiffany's and Chanel.

"A central location is important to the people we work with and the move is key to the continued growth of the firm. In Auckland we have a focus on corporate, banking and finance and infrastructure and the new office ideally locates us to undertake this work," says Auckland partner Geoff Busch.

"Britomart is the premium location for business, retail and dining in Auckland and we are excited about being part of this inspiring new environment.

"Our new open plan office is fresh, modern and designed to assist collaboration and staff well-being. It is bright and features exposed brick and wooden beams that place it thoroughly as a historic building with the best of modern design," he said.

Built in 1903 and 1904 respectively, the Nathan Building and Australis House, at 33-37 Galway Street, right on the edge of Britomart's Takutai Square, originally served as shop fronts and storage for two local merchants.

The buildings are Historic Places Trust registered and have been restored and joined under the supervision of heritage architects to preserve their historic features.

New Brand

We have this month re-branded Anderson Lloyd with a fresh new design that reflects our strategic direction and our position as a leading national law firm. The new brand is the visual representation of a culture and the service we provide.

We hope you will agree that the brand reflects our commitment to:

Our clients – We take time to understand our clients and form long-term partnerships with them.

Excellence – We strive for excellence in everything we do to achieve the best results for our clients. We provide the highest standards of service.

Commercial outcomes – We understand the needs of our clients' businesses and provide strategic and commercially focused solutions. We are straightforward and pragmatic.

Our people – Our people set us apart. We offer challenging and stimulating work and an environment that encourages their growth. This benefits our clients.

Acting responsibly – Our sustainability programmes promote environmentally sound practices, encourage diversity, and form partnerships that benefit the communities in which we live.

Law Master

We have just gone live with Law Master, an integrated finance and practice management system which will give us the ability to manage our business with a single platform and embrace the digital age.

We are the first New Zealand law firm to adopt this integrated software, which enhances our internal capabilities and reflects our position as a leading New Zealand law firm.

This investment demonstrates our drive to provide the best possible services to our clients and to develop our business to ensure that we are well equipped as a provider of 21st century legal services.
